REPORT PREDICTED-RELIEF DEMANDED BY THE ANNEXED DISTRICT.

A number of Aldermen being out of the city, there is some doubt whether the Board will have a quorum to-day. Mayor Cooper said yesterday if the Board meets he will send to it the supplementary report of the Rapid Transit Commissioners. Members of the Board say they have nothing to do with this part of the report, as the law only contemplates their action on the routes. " After baving refused our consent." said Alderman Morris, yesterday, " it is a piece of impertinence to send another report virtually asking it. They have no authority to withdraw any route once located. They still retain the Fifty-ninth-st. route, which is fully as objecthe Fifty-minth-st. route, which is faily as objectionable as the one down Fourth-ave. I am inclined to think there is some trick in the proposed withdrawal of the Vanderbilt route. The supplementary report should be returned to the Commissioners by Mayer Cooper with the official notice of our previous action. If it should come before the Board it will be rejected with as great a majority as was given against the first report. The Mayer should send word to the Commissioners at once that the best service they can do the public is to resign." to resigu.

The pay of Commissioners is $10 per day each. The pay of Commissioners is $10 per day each. There is besides this sum the expense for counsel, engineers, secretary, office rent, etc., amounting to a large sum. This has to be met out of the subscriptions for the first company formed under the action of the Commission; and it is said that there is no other provision for its payment. Said one Alderman vesterday: "It looks to me as if the withdrawal of the Vanderbilt route is done in hope of getting some company formed that will meet the expense of the Commission."

drawal of the Vanderbill route is done in hope of getting some company formed that will meet the expense of the Commission."

The residents of the upper wards are greatly dissatistied with the work of the Commission. The needed rapid transit for the accommodation of the residents of that part of the city has been unnecessarily delayed, they say, because the Commission has located routes not asked for and not wanted, except by capitalists, thus temporarily defeating the purpose of their appointment. It is said that the appointment of a new Commission will be petitioned for, which under the law the Mayor is obliged to grant. A mass meeting to protest against the action of the present Commission, and to take action on the best way to procure rapid transit, will be held to-night at Central Hall, at Westchester and Third-aves. Residents of the new wards are expected to be present in force; and as some of the Commissioners are expected to attend to defend their action, a lively time is anticipated.

Janes R. Angel, a well-known lawyer, residing in the new wards, said to a Thibunk reporter yesterday: "The routes laid out for the new wards are not such as will best accommodate the public. They bear the appearance of having been laid out to avoid interfering with Vanderbilt's railway. I doubt if the Board of Aldermen can interfere with the building of those roads, because they are laid out through private lois and farms and not through the public streets. What is badly needed is a rapid transit road that will continue the line up Thirdaye, about two miles and then fail into the route laid out by the Commission to Fordham. Such a route would pay from the start, but those laid out for one had out, as they would make by the operation. At the meeting we will endeavor to devise some measure that will bring us rapid transit."

CLUBBED FOR OFFERING ADVICE.

CLUBBED FOR OFFERING ADVICE. OFFICER O'LEARY ASSAULTS TIMOTHY HAYES FOR

MAKING A SUGGESTION-MR. CURTIN'S MIS-FORTUNES. Timothy Hayes, a porter in a liquor store in New Chambers-st., was arraigned yesterday at the Tombs Police Court on a charge of attempting to assault Officer O'Leary, of the Fourth Precinct, on Sunday night, in New Chambers-st., near the Newsboys Lodging House, while the officer was in the discharge of his duty. It was alleged by O'Leary that charge of his duty. It was alleged by Cheary that Hayes had been conducting himself in a disorderly manner at the place mentioned, and that when he attempted to arrest him, Hayes made an effort to knock him down. Hayes's head was wrapped up in bandages through which is he blood cozed, and his face was swollen and disfigured. O'Leary douied having touched him with his club. He was mable to explain how Hayes was so much cut and disfigured. Hayes testified that a well-dressed man was asleep for some hours near the Newsboys' Lodging House, and that he called the officer's attention to the danger to which he was exposed of heing robbed. The officer, Hayes said, resented the suggestion as a piece of impertinence, and after abusing him, followed him across the street and struck him several times on the head and body with his club, Hayes fell to the ground from loss of blood, and was afterward conveyed to the station-house.

James F. Roche, a fireman attached to Engine No.
12, of the station at No. 201 William-st., saw the coentrence, and substantiated Hayes's testimony in every particular. Justice Wandell dismissed the complaint against Hayes. In emphatic terms be expressed his disapproval of the conduct of the officer, and then directed that complaint should be made against him for assanit and battery. A few minutes later Officer O'Leary was committed for trial in default of $500 bail.

On the application of Timothy J. Curtin, of No. 203 East Forty-fourth-st., Justice Kilbreth, of the Yorkville Police Court, vesterday issued a warrant for the arrest of Officer Plood, of the I wenty-lirst Hayes had been conducting himself in a disorderly 203 East Forty-fourth-st., Justice Kilbreth, of the Yorkville Police Court, yesterday issued a warrant for the arrest of Officer Flood, of the Iwenty-first Precinct. The charge is assault and battery. On last Saturday Curtin says that while sitting in a drag store at Forty-first-st, and Third-ave., he saw Officer Flood struggling with a drunken man on the opposite corner. Just as he had crossed the avenue to Officer Flood's assistance, Officer Phillips, of the Niueteenth Precinct, arrived at the place. Officer Flood became so excited that he imagined Curtin to be a friend of the drunken man, and his object to be to get him away. With his club he beat Curtin's head almost before the latter realized what had ocbe a triem away. With his club he beat Curtin's head almost before the latter realized what had occurred. The officer, it is said, feels very sorry for his mistake, but Curtin will not overlook it. Mr. Curtin also preferred charges against Flood at Police Headquarters.

A CONVICT'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of John Barrett, who was shot at Sing Sing on Friday while in revolt against the prison authorities and threatening Keeper Good's life, yesterday attracted a crowd of friends and morbidly curious sight-seers to his mother's dwelling, at No. 850 East Thirty-third-st. In the small room on the third floor, where the body lay, friends of the dead man were gathered. Some had brought flowers and laid them on the coffin, but the grief-stricken mother brushed them aside and refused to let any one decorate the corpse of her son. The father, two younger brothers and a sister endeavored to soothe the mother's grief. At 2 p. m. the undertaker arrived, and all were invited to take a last look at John Barrett's face, which in death gave no evidence of fierce disposition or evil habits. When, an attempt was made to remove Mrs. Barrett from the corpse of her first-born, she sank back into a neigh-corpse of her first-born, she sank back into a neighbor's arms with a wall and was carried from the room and to the couch in an unconscious state. Barrett was interred at Calvary Cemetery, where the service of the Roman Catholic Church was read by Father Joyce, the celebrant at the cemetery.

William A. Barrett, the father of the dead man, said to a Tanuvar reporter that the reports of his son having been a desperate convict are untrue, and that he was in prison serving out a term for a burglary he never committed. He said the attack Barrett made on his keepers was the natural result of the harsh and degrading treatment he had undergone. "Johnny," said his father, "inherited a hot and violent temper from his mother, and personal pride from me. So when they flegged and disgraced him it made him desperate." Barrett was sent to Sing Sing in Octobre, 1877, on a sentence by Recorder Hackett for a burglary of a dry goods shop on Thirdave. He was arrested while wearing one of the shirts stolen from the shop. This he claimed had been given him by a friend who had asked him to go on a picnic, which he declined doing on the ground of having no clean times to wear. His father said that John pleaded guilty by his own and counsel's advice, as all the circumstances were against him, and he hoped for a lighter sentence. He would have been twenty years old last Saturday, the day his body was brought from Sing Sing to his moders's home.

FUNERAL OF POLICE CAPTAIN KENNEDY The funeral of Captain Thomas J. Kennedy, late of the Thirty-fifth Precinct, took place yesterday morning. The body was taken from his late residence, No. 211 East Eighty-sixth-st., to St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church, at Eighty-seventh-st. and First-ave., where the Rev. Father Busen conducted the services, assisted by the Rev. Father Dusthaller and the Rev. Father Hackspiel. The remains lay in a coffin covered with black cloth and velvet, and bearing a plate in the shape of a shield, having engraved on it the following: "Thomas J. kennedy. Died July 24, 1879. Aged 41 years 7 months." An arch of flowers, having the name and official title of the dead man worked in flowers, was placed at the chancel near the coffin. This was sent by members of the Ninth Precinct police force. Another offering in the shape of a cross bore the word "Rest." This was surmounted by a white dove bearing in its beak a spray of green. Morgan Jones, John Pine, ex-Warden John Stacom, ex-Captain Ullman, John Williams, Sergeant Joseph Douglass and Roundsman W. Dean acted as pall-bearers. A procession was formed as soon as the savvices were finished, headed by Sergeant Tuch, of the Twenty-second Precinct, as marskal, with a section from the Twenty-second and Twenty-third Precincts acting as an escort, and a plateon of the Twenty-fifth and the mounted remains lay in a coffin covered with black cloth squadren on foot, acting as a guard of honor. The remains were taken to Calvary Cemetery for burial. Nearly all of the Police Inspectors and Captains, and many Sergeants were present, as were many personal friends.

INVESTIGATING VIOLENT DEATHS. POLKATO, THE STALIAN, DECLARED GUILTY OF THE MURDER OF BOLENDER-JOHN GALLAGHER SHOT BY JOSEPH CONROY-RAFFERTY AND JOURDAN

RELD AS ACCESSORIES. A large crowd of spectators gathered at the Coroner's office yesterday to witness the inquest in the case of Michael Bolender, the murdered candymaker. The jury summoned by Coroner Woltman took their seats a little before 11 a. m., and the Italian who had committed the murder was led in by three policemen. His hands were manaeled. While the witnesses were giving their testimony, he sat with his head bent down so that his chin rested on his breast. He could not understand a word that was spoken, but his sullen glances showed that he understood the meaning of the proceedings. Among the persons who watched him closely were the wife and daughter of the man he had murdered. The evidence against him was so conclusive that Coroner Woltman called only a few witnesses.

Albert Smith, a printer at No. 191 Fulton-st., testified that he saw the Italian loitering at Church and Fulton-sts. for several hours on Thursday afternoon. Richard Febler, employed at the same place, had noticed the Italian also, and he saw him stab Mr. Bolender as the latter was passing along the street. Edward Noetling, of No. 137 Thompsonst, who was employed with Mr. Bolender at the candy manufactory of A. Slavson & Co., at Church and Dey-sis, testified that he was walking with Mr. Bolender on Thursday evening at Church and Fulton-sts. They had left the manufactory in company with William Roberts and Valentine Streitz, and were about to walk home. "At Church and Fulton-sts.," Mr. Noetling continued. "I saw a man jumping toward us from one of the pillars of the clevated railroad. I went out of his way. When I turned around again I saw him grasp Mr. Bolender and try to turn him around. I recognize the prisoner as the man. I saw something in his hand. He lifted up his hand and struck two blows. Mr. Bolender fell on the sidewalk." Several other witnesses were examined to prove that the prisoner was the man who had stabbed Mr. Bolender, Deputy-Coroner Cushman testified that Mr. Bolender's death was caused by a stab-wound through the heart. Mrs. Bolender was called to the witnesstand to prove that her bushand left his home at No. 108 Thompson-st. on Thursday morning in good health. The jury asked leave to give a verdict without leaving their seats, but Coroner Woltman insisted on their taking a vote in a room by themselves. They returned almost immediately and announced their decision to be that Mr. Bolender came to his death by a stab-wound inflicted by the prisoner. The Italian, who had given his name to the police as Porcello, was then brought to the Coroner's desk and was told that he might answer or refuse to answer any questions which were put to him. Through an interpreter, he made the following statement:

My name is Francisco Polkato. I am thirty-eight years old and live at No. 38 Baxter-st. I am a candymaker by trade. The man I murdered was a secret thief. Every Italian who worked under him had to giv and Fulton-sts. for several hours on Thursday afternoon. Richard Febler, employed at the same

Coroner Woltman then committed Polkato again to the Tombs to await the action of the Grand July.

As the officers were taking him out of the Coroner's office, a crowd of men and boys collected in the street and gave expression to feelings of rage. The officers hurried Polkato into a Bleecker-st. car and took him to prison as quickly as possible.

The statement made by Polkato at the Coroner's inquest to the effect that Bolender was in the babit of appropriating to his own use a portion of the wages of those employed under him at the candy manufactory is depied emphatically by Mr. Slauson, the proprietor of the factory. He said that he had the proprietor of the factory. He said that he had never before heard of any such complaint having been made. One of his assistants, however, said that some time ago such are not was current, but a thorough investigation convinced him of its faisity. Since the murder, the report, he said, had been revived, and to satisfy himself still further, he personally inquired amongst the workmen, and particularly the Italians in the establishment, and ail denied any knowledge of such actions on the part of Bolender. The amount of money due each man is, according knowledge of such actions on the part of Bolender. The amount of money due each man is, according to the system of the office, put in an envelope, which is scaled and handed to him. The suggestion having been made that Bolender when employing a man did so with the understanding that a percentage of his wages should be given to him quietly, as a bonus, the gentleman said that his investigation covered that point likewise, and that the charge was entirely false. Mr. Slauson says that during the entire thirteen years of service in his establishment no suspicion of dishonesty ever attached to the murdered man.

ered man. Coroner Ellinger yesterday completed the inquest Coroner Ellinger yesterday completed the inquest in the case of John Gallagher, who was killed a week ago Saturday night in West Sixteenth-st. The principal witness was Edward O'Neil, of No. 250 West Sixteenth-st. He testified that on the might of the murder he saw Gallagher coming out of an alley with Mailey, one of the prisoners. The other prisoners—Conroy, Rafferty and Jourdan—soon made their appearance. When Conroy got near Gallagher, some one said: "Now you've got him, give it to him." Then the shot was fired and Gallagher fell. There was no one behind Corroy who could have fired the shot.

James Doyle, of No. 244 West Sixteenth-st., James Hartnett, of No. 250 West Sixteenth-st., and several other witnesses corroborated O'Neil's testimony, and their testimeny indicated that Rafferty and Jourdan had incited Conroy to the shoottimony, and their testimony indicated that Katferty and Jourdan had incited Conroy to the shooting. The jury gave the following verdict: "We find that John Gallagher came to his death by a pistol-shot wound in the left eye, penetrating the skull, at the hands of Joseph Conroy, and we hold Charles Rafferty and John J. Jourdan as accessories." By advice of their counsel Rafferty and Jourdan said they were not guilty. Couroy said he had shot Gallagher in self-defence. The prisoners were then sent to the Tombs to await the action of the Grand Jury. the Grand Jury.

FINANCES OF ESSEX COUNTY, N. J. MEETING OF COUNTY ASSESSORS-VALUATIONS FOR 1879.

The Essex County Board of Assessors met at the Court House in Newark yesterday to apportion the county tax of $740,914 89 to the wards and townships. The Committee to Compare Valuations recommended an increase in the valuations of Montclair of 20 per cent, and reductions in the following clair of 20 per cent, and reductions in the following townships: South Orange, $100,000; East Orange, $75,000; Milburn, $25,000; Orange, $50,000; Caidwell, $15,000; Clinton, $30,000; Livingston, $13,000. The report was adepted. In reply to a question as to the falling off of $2,006,000 in valuations of Newark since last year, Mr. Connolly said no reduction had been made on improved property. The real estate had been reduced, but the value of the improvements added. Mr. Connelly then claimed a reduction of $3,311,000—or 5 per cent—upon the original valuation of Newark, which was granted. The totals, as finally fixed, were as follows:

County valuation. $23,516,000 City valuation. 78,832,000 ......$102,348,000

The valuations were adopted. A resolution was adopted declaring that, in the opinion of the Board, it is the duty of the next Legislature to repeal the law permitting taxpayers to offset their debts against the valuation of their real estate. The county rate was fixed at .6960 on the $100. Last year the valuation was $108,856,000, and the county tax rate. 72.

ENDING HER WOE BY POISON. JENNIE BROWNELL COMMITS SUICIDE AT WHITE PLAINS.

A young woman named Jennie Brownell, age seventeen, committed suicide in White Plains on Saturday by taking a dose of corresive sublimate. Her mother had long had charge of the household affairs of Daniel Griffin, a wealthy farmer who died recently, and she retained the position under his son, Howard Griffin. Miss Brownell lived in the house

Howard Griffin. Miss Brownell lived in the house and enjoyed the privileges of a member of the family. Wednesday hast, Miss Brownell made a visit to some friends at Milton, where she remained until Friday morning last, returning home about 9 o'clock. She then appeared to be as well as usual. A few hours afterward, a Miss Abbott called to see Miss Brownell, and, not fluding her in any of the rooms down stairs, went to her bedroom, and there found her vomiting and scarcely able to speak. She died Saturday morning.

Miss Brownell confessed that she had taken the poison in order to die, on the impulse of the moment while suffering great nervousness, but she assigned no reason for the act. Rumois are freely circulated, however, that young Howard Griffin, son of the owner of the estate, until recently had been attentive to Miss Brownell; that within the last week or two he had formed the acquaintance of another young woman. This, it is thought, preyed upon the mind of Miss Brownell and led her to take her own life.

SUICIDE OF A POLICEMAN. Patrolman Bartholomew Gaffney, of the Eighteenth Precinct, committed suicide yesterday moruing at his home, No. 325 East Twenty-fifth-st., by shooting himself through the head. It is believed that the officer's act was caused by temporary insanity resulting from sickness. He imagined that some one was watching him and waiting for an opportunity to injure him. He got out of bed about 1 o'clock yesterday morning, and told life wife that he was going to smoke in an adjoining room. She fell asleep, but was awakened by a pistol shot to find that he had killed himself.

that he had killed himself.

Officer Gaffney was fifty-eight years old, and was appointed on the police force December 4, 1862. He was a sober and faithful officer, and for years had Stuyvesant Park for his post. At one time he was transferred from this post, but the residents living in the vicinity appealed to the Police Board and had him replaced.

A GOVERNMENT MARINE HOSPITAL. BEDLOE'S ISLAND TO BE USED BY THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT-A GENERAL HOSPITAL FOR THE

GOVERNMENT MARINE HOSPITAL SERVICE. For five years past the Marine Hospital Service of the Government has felt the need of a marine hospital at this port for the benificiaries of the Seamen's Fund, and the unanimous sentiment of the shipping interests in reference to its establishment has been frequently pointed out by the Surgeon-General of the Service. Sailors in need hospital service have been sent to the Roosevelt, Presbyterian, Bellevue, St. Vincents and New-York Hospitals, the Eye and Ear Infirmary of this city; the Long Island, Brooklyn City, St. Peters, and Long Island College Hospitals of Brooklyn; the Jersey City Hospital and the Sea-Brooklyn; the Jersey City Hospital and the Seamen's Retreat. The difficulty experienced has been in finding a healthy site, and the local hospitals having influential men, often members of Congress on the Boards of Trustees, have been able to prevent the establishment of a general hospital at this port. Bedloc's Island was considered the most desirable, and yesterday General Hancock, commanding the Department of the Atlantic, received an order from the Secretary of War to transfer to the Marine Hospital Service, through Surgeon-General J. B. Hamilton, the unused buildings outside of Fort Wood, subject to recall at any time the Army might require them, "It is a remarkable fact," said the late Surgeon-General Woodworth in his last report, "that while marine hospitals have, in the past history of the service, been crected at many places where no such buildings were at any time required, there has never been a marine hospital built at either New-York, Philadelphia or Baitinore."

Surgeon-General Hamilton and Dr. Ellinwood, the surgeon of the service at this port, yesterday visited Bedloc's Island to make preliminary arrangements for its occupation. It is intended to concentrate the local branches of the service, and make this the general hospital for the smaller ports in the vicinity of New-York, where sailers will be likely to apply for relief, and put if under the charge of the officers of the Marine Hospital Service. The Seamen's Retreat, on Staten Island, will then be vacuated by the Government and turned over to the State, to whom it belongs. The small effice in the basement of the Custom House has been in operation for many years, but has been used simply as a dispensary for the treatment of patients, and the preliminary exmen's Retreat. The difficulty experienced has been

House has been in operation for many years, but has been used simply as a dispensary for the treatment of patients, and the preliminary examinations of these sent to the hospitals. No less than one-tenth of the entire number of beneficiaries of the Marine Hospital Fund have been examined in this office. The Secretary of the Treasury, upon the advice of the Supervising Architect, has assigned spacious apartments in the proposed Barge Onice at the Battery when completed, to succeed that at the Custom House, which will make it the model office of the whole Service. Said an officer of the Service vesterday: "It is impossible to overmodel office of the whole Service. Said an office of the Service vesterday; "It is impossible to overestimate the advantages which this new hospital will be to the shipping interests and the Government. The only reason I can assign for the opposition to such a project heretofore has been the annual ment. In any construction of the annual disbursements amounting to $40,000 to the various hospitals. The service can be performed by our own department at much less expense, with greater facilities, and in a more satisfactory manner.

The Army records of the past twelve years show Bedloe's Island to have been the healthiest military post around New-York. The Island is twelve acres in extent, and 2,950 yards distant from the Battery. By a joint resolution of Congress, passed on March 3, 1877, a portion of the island was designated for the colossal statue of "Liberty Enlightening the World," and it was evacuated by the United States troops in April following. Old Fort Wood occupies the front and highest portion of the island, and it is on this spot where the statue will probably be placed. In the rear of Fort Wood is a two-story barrack, new, well-ventilated and fitted with baths. barrack, new, well-ventilated and fitted with baths, ranges, etc., post hospital and two cottages. These can be made immediately available for the accommodation of about 100 patients, and it is estimated that it will cost very little to make necessary alterations. It is preposed to run a steam ambulance launch from the new hospital to the Battery, as often as is necessary, also to connect the building by telegraph with the Custom House and Police lieadquarters, so that in the event of an accident of any nature the boat may be run to any wharf in the city with medical assistance.

On June 11, Surgeon-General J. B. Hamilton, of the United States Marine Hospital Service, issued a circular to the medical officers of that department, ordering them, upon application of the United States engaged in the foreign trade or coastwise steamer, or otherwise, that vessels may be provided with sound and healthy crews. Dr. Hamilton stated yesterday that this addition to the service, without expense to vessels, had proved thus far very beneficial. About 10 per very length of the service without expense to vessels, had proved thus far very beneficial. About 10 per very length of the service without expense to vessels, had proved thus far very beneficial. About 10 per very length of the service without expense to vessels, had proved thus far very beneficial. Hamilton stated yesterday that this addition to the service, without expense to vessels, had proved thus far very beneficial. About 10 per cent of the seamen examined have been found physically incapacitated, but in many cases, through the agency of boarding-house runners, have been enabled to get berths on vessels, and after getting to sea were get berths on vessels, and after getting to sea were but on the sick list as unable to do duty. He be-lieved that the time would come when only sound and healthy seamen would be found among the crews. General Hamilton said that at the Marine Hospital at Boston, during his last year of service there in 1878, 2949 per cent of the scamen ex-amined were unfit for service, of which 25 per cent returned to seafaring pursuits through the con-nivance of boarding-house runners.

FISHING FOR SHARKS.

Sharks are abundant to the Great South Bay, and hardly a day passes without one or more of them being captured. Last Thursday two were taken in the channel near the Elbow, and another in the slough near Oak Island. Two members of the Olympic Club were the heroes of one of the battles at the Elbow. They were on the club yacht T. B. Asten, in search of bluefish, but, as the bluefish re-fused to bite, they rigged a tackle for sharks. For fused to bite, they rigged a tackle for sharas. For a line they used some spare rect-point cord. They made a float of a small water-keg, and constructed a shark-hook by tying two bluchsh-hooks together, side by side. A moss-bunker served for bait, and in half an hour a fine shark was booked. He was brought alongside and lanced with a butcher-knife tied to a boat-hook. Before striking him his captors passed a running bowline around his tail, and it was well they did so, for his struggles after the blow was given tore the hook from his mouth. He measured 6 feet 3 anches in length, and was estimated to weigh 150 pounds. One of his captors, who had eaten shark's fins in China, persuaded the cook of the Olympic Chib to prepare a dish from the prize. Those who ate it said it was much like halibut, though drier and without taste, and it was observed that no one passed his plate for a second helping. cond belping.

KILLED ON THE RAILROAD TRACK. The man who was struck by a train on the Manhattan Beach Railroad at New Lots on Sunday, was recognized yesterday by his son. and this fact would explain the cause of his paying no attention to the whistle. Daggett was a furrier by trade. He will be buried by his son.

The body of the man who was struck by a train on the Long Island Railroad about 8:30 p. m. Sunday, has not yet been recognized. The body is at the Raymond Street Morgue awaiting identification. From the appearance of the man he was evidently a tramp. His clothes were old and on his feet were a pair of Winter overshoes. In his pockets were 80 cents. Some persons who witnessed the accident expressed the belief that the man had purposely placed himself in front of the train for the purpose of committing suicide. His body is horribly mutilated.

REINHARDT AND ROLLINSON IN JAIL. Edward Reinbardt, under sentence of death in the Richmond County (8, L) Juli, is remarkably cheerful. He said to a visitor yesterday that he had been confined in jair over nine months, and was used to prison life. He exhibited small baskets and matchsafes, which he said he spent considerable time in making. When asked if he made them all by hand, he replied, with a smile: "Why, certainly. They don't allow me to have tools." He said that he dis-posed of the articles to visiters, and that with the money he usually bought tobacco for his fellow-prisoners.

The man Rollinson, who killed Sisk on the night of July 3, occupies a cell on the other side of the prison. He was found yesterday lying on his cot reading the Bible. He said that he was as comfortable as he could expect under the circumstances, but that the close confinement was telling on him. He had never been in prison before. He said that Reinhardt and he were allowed daily exercise together in the corridor. Reinhardt has laught him to made fancy baskets to pass away the time.

NEW RAILROAD COMBINATION.

AGREEMENT RETWEEN THREE ROADS. THE CLEVELAND, COLUMBUS, CINCINNATI AND IN-DIANAPOLIS, THE INDIANAPOLIS AND ST. LOUIS,

AND THE WABASH TO POOL ALL THEIR EARNINGS. An agreement has been formed for pooling the earnings of the Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati and Indianapolis, the Indianapolis and St. Louis, and the Wabash Railroads. The negotiations, which have been pending for several weeks, were brought to an end yesterday by the execution of the contract by the president of the Wabash Company. It was signed on Saturday by the presidents of the other ompanies, having been approved previously by the officers of the Pennsylvania Company, to which the Indianapolis and St. Louis Road is leased. The contract, which takes effect from June 1, is to continue in force for five years; provisions for its further extension are made. It covers the entire freight, passenger, mail and express earnings of the three companies during its continuance. It is said to be practically a consolidation of two nearly parallel lines from St. Louis to the lakes. The successful result of the negotiations meets the warm approval of the friends of all the companies. J. H.

approval of the friends of all the companies. J. H. Devereux, president of the Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati and Indianapolis Ratiroad, said recently that the agreement was the "bed-rock" of all pooling arrangements; the model on which future combinations must be made.

The principal feature of the agreement is the method of fixing the basis of a division of business. The gross earnings of each company for 1878 are ascertained by deducting from the apparent gross earnings all rebates, commissions and other extraordinary expenses incurred in procuring business. The gross earnings thus ascertained conness. The gross earnings thus ascertained con-stitute the basis of division for the following year. It is provided that the earnings shall be ascer-tained in the same manner at the end of each year, tained in the same manner at the end of each year, and that the business of each year shall form the basis for the division in the succeeding year. The execution of the contract is intrusted to an Executive Committee, which, at all competing points, shall divide the freight and passenger business as nearly as possible. At these points one agent shall act for all the roads. In case the earnings of either road shall exceed the agreed basis, one-half of the excess is allowed for operating cost to the road earning to the agreement. Additional lines may be built or acquired by either company, and the additional traffic shall be added to its share of the pooled business.

The Executive Committee, having charge of the contract and of all questions arising from it, consists of five members. Of these two are chosen by the directors of the Wabash Company and two by those of the other two companies; these select a fifth, who is to be the commissioner of the pool. Surject to the orders of the Executive Committee, the commissioner is invested with power to establish and maintain rates for transportation of Savject to the orders of the Executive Committee, the commissioner is invested with power to establish and maintain rates for transportation of passengers and freight to and from all competing points; to direct and apportion business, and to prevent the payment of drawbacks or any other violation of the contract. The commissioner holds office during the pleasure of the committee, and is liable to removal upon the affirmative votes of any two members of the committee. The members of the committee held their offices at the pleasure of the companies they represent. All disputes arising from the contract are to be referred to arbitration. The decision of the arbitration is to be final, except that the perentage of the division or the method of ascertaining age of the division or the method of ascertaining the sum to be divided shall not be changed without the mutual consent of the companies. Settlements under this agreement are to be made monthly, and an auditor shall furnish each month an accurate statement of the earnings of each road for the preceding month.

The agreement is to continue in force for five The agreement is to continue in force for five years. Unless within ninety days of its expiration notice shall be given by one of the companies of its intention to terminate the agreement, it shall remain effective for a second period of five years, and in the same manner indefinitely.

This agreement was completed yesterday and has received the signatures of the presidents of the companies. Members of the Executive Committee have been chosen; they are J. H. Devereux, president of the Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati and Indianapolis Railroad; H. B. Hurlbut, president of the Indianapolis and St. Louis Railroad, and A. L.

THE REV. WILLIAM F. DICKERSON ON THE SPIR-ITUAL CONDITION OF CHASTINE COX. The Rev. William F. Dickerson, D. D., in

is sermon Sunday night at the Bethel, African Methodist Episcopal Church, Sullivan-st., referred to the spiritual ondition of Chastine Cox, choosing for his text; Wherefore he is able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him." The preacher dwelt on the power of Christ to save all who repent of their crimes. Salvation was open to Cain, who murdered his brother, as it was to the thief upon the cross. David had murdered Urish, had been forgiven, and was called a man after God's own heart. Francisco Portello, the Italian who murdered Michael Bolander, said the preacher, if he will repent and believe in the Lord Jesus Christ and undergo Divine leansing, may yet stand among the justified at God's right hand. Last Friday I entered the cell of that Italian. He told me he felt bad. Whether over his

"But with reference to Chastine Cox, I can speak authoritatively, for I visit, talk, read and pray with him about every other day. From the moment he committed the burgiary he began to pray; and from that moment until now he has ceased not to importance Heaven for forgiveness for his sin, and for that special preparation to meet his God in peace. Indeed it was this that took him to the Ebenezer Baptist Church at the South End, in Boston. Much has been said, written and read about his unsecutively levity, his jocconess, ins that took him to the Ebenezer Baptist Church a the South End, in Boston. Much has been said, with the south End, in Boston. Much has been said, with the and read about his unseculy levity, his jocosenes even when being tried for his life, and after bein sentenced to death. Upon this part of his conduct have conversed with him much, for it was a mystery a me as to others. It is, however, no longer a mystery a me. Some said he did not appreciate his condition. This is decidedly a mistake. He feels keenly his terible position. But he is so constituted that without offert he appears not to feel. I have seen him with a describible remorse fixed upon his brew, and have heard him utter these words: "I am no murdorer, I all not kill Mrs. Hull; and I am sorry, sorry indeed, if an act of mine caused her death, though I do not think stead have died from any injuries inflicted by me. Yes, have compunction of conselence. I have done whom and acknowledge my wrong; have repented of it, and it is a true picture. Four years ago in this church he was invited forward to the anxious seat to seek the salvation of his coult. He went. Subsequently, in the church of his choice, he found the Lord precious to his soul, he says. Since then he has fallen on evil times, has offended his Saybour, but remembering the invitation, "Let the wicked forsaice his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts, and let him return unto the Lord and He will have mercy upon him; and to our God, and He will have mercy upon him; and to our God, and He will abundantly pardon," he acted upon it, and now is light of heart—because of h.—I think him a saved man.—I could wish for a change in his condition.
